Overview

ABSTRACT

In December 2017, the World Bank, in collaboration with Somali statistical authorities conducted the second wave of the Somali High Frequency Survey to monitor welfare and perceptions of citizens in all accessible areas of 17 regions within Somalia's pre-war borders including Somaliland which self-declared independence in 1991. The survey interviewed 4,011 urban households, 1,106 rural households, 468 households in Internally Displaced People (IDP) settlements and 507 nomadic households. The sample was drawn randomly based on a multi-level clustered design. This dataset contains information on economic conditions, education, employment, access to services, security, perceptions and details before displacement for displaced households. It also includes comprehensive information on assets and consumption, to allow estimation of poverty based on the Rapid Consumption methodology as detailed in Pape and Mistiaen (2014).

Sampling

Sampling Procedure

Wave 2 of the SHFS employed a multi-stage stratified random sample, ensuring a sample representative of all subpopulations of interest. Strata were defined along two dimensions - administrative location (pre-war regions and emerging states) and population type (urban areas, rural settlements, IDP settlements, and nomadic population). Households were clustered into enumeration areas (EAs), with 12 interviews was expected for each selected EA. Primary sampling units (PSUs) were generated using a variety of techniques depending on the population type. The primary sampling unit (PSU) in urban as well as rural strata was the enumeration area (EA). For IDP strata, primary sampling units were IDP settlements as defined by UNCHR's Shelter Cluster. Across all strata, PSUs were selected using a systematic random sampling approach with selection probability proportional to size (PPS). In IDP strata, PPS sampling is applied at the IDP settlement level. In second- and final-stage sample selection, a microlisting approach was used, such that EAs were divided into 12 smaller enumeration blocks, which were selected with equal probability. Every block was selected as 12 interviews per EA were required. A similar second-stage sampling strategy was employed for IDP strata. Each IDP settlement was segmented manually into enumeration blocks. Finally, one household per block was interviewed in all selected blocks within the enumeration area. The household was selected randomly with equal probability in two stages, following the micro-listing protocol. The strategy for sampling nomadic households relied on lists of water points. The list of water points was divided up by stratum at the federated member state level and they served as primary sampling units. Water points were selected in the first stage with equal probability, with 12 interviews to be conducted at each selected water point. The selection of nomadic households to interview relied on a listing process at each water point whose aim was to compile an exhaustive list of all nomadic households at the water point. For more details, see accompanying documents, available under the related materials tab.

Deviations from Sample Design

EAs were replaced if security rendered field work unfeasible. Replacements were approved by the project manager. Replacement of households were approved by the supervisor after a total of three unsuccessful visits of the household.

Weighting

Based on the sampling design, sampling weights were calculated after the completion of data collection. The sampling weight is the inverse probability of selection. In general, the selection probability for a household can be decomposed into the selection probability of the EA, the selection probability of the block and selection probability of the household within the block. Sampling weights were then scaled to equal the number of households per analytical strata using the data from the Population Estimation Survey of Somalia (PESS) 2014. For more details see accompanying documents, available under the related materials tab.

Questionnaires

Overview

The household questionnaire is in English. It includes the following modules:

- Introduction
- Module A: Administrative Information
- Module B: Interview Information and Filters
- Module C: Household Roster
- Module D: Household Characteristics
- Module E: Food Consumption
- Module F: Non-Food Consumption
- Module G: Livestock
- Module H: Durable Goods
- Module I: Perceptions and Social Services
- Module J: Displacement
- Module K: Fishing
- Module L: Catastrophic Events and Disasters
- Module M: Enumerator Conclusions

INTRODUCTION: Good (morning/afternoon). My name is %enum_id%, I am working with the High Frequency Survey Team, a Somali research organization that is conducting a study on the ECONOMIC SITUATION of families in %somsld%. Your household has been RANDOMLY SELECTED to take part in this study. Your PARTICIPATION IS COMPLETELY VOLUNTARY. All information you share with me is COMPLETELY CONFIDENTIAL. This means that there will be no way any information or answers you give me can be associated with your name. I also want to make it clear that there are no right or wrong answers. The survey won't provide individual benefits to you, but the information will be used to understand socioeconomic factors that influence poverty in %somsld%. WE DO THIS by looking at HOUSEHOLD EXPENDITURE and CONSUMPTION on food and non-food items. This information will be used to INFORM DEVELOPMENT POLICIES of the government and local and international organizations to try and improve the lives of people in %somsld%. To be able to answer these questions accurately, I would like to speak to the head of the household TOGETHER WITH THEIR PARTNER if possible. If they are not available, then I would like to talk to the man and/or the woman who would know most about what your household usually consumes and purchases. There are NO RISKS to taking part in this study, and your identity will remain ANONYMOUS. You can stop taking part in the survey at any time. Please take as much time as you need to decide if you'd like to participate in this survey. You may ask me any questions about the research project or the survey procedures that you'd like.
